SOCRED MLA RAPS MACPHEE REPORT ON FRUIT INDUSTRY

B.C. SOCIAL SERVICES SUFFER

Bennett's 'Debt-Free Obsession' Criticized

VICTORIA (CP) — A woman member of the provincial legislature Thursday said that decreased social services in British Columbia are "the direct result of Premier Bennett's obsession with creating what he calls a debt-free province."

Mrs. Lois Hagen (CCF-Grand Forks-Greenwood), speaking in the throne speech debate, said "debt reduction" is good in principle and all governments believe in it by making provision for normal debt retirement.

"But I don't think it is good that debt reduction should be accelerated with the object of its coinciding with a probable election."

She did not think debt reduction is good "when it is done at the expense of human welfare."

Earlier, labor minister Lyle Wicks suggested the possibility of establishing a labor advisory council to study and advise on labor-management relations in the province.

"If we have reached a stage in our development that we are all prepared to put first things first, to put principles and policies first, then it seems to me that such a move might prove beneficial to the people of British Columbia."

In his 1½-hour address, Mr. Wicks said the federal government seems bent on loading Canadians with debt, "so much so that every Canadian family will this year be required to pay approximately $148 in taxes for interest and servicing charges."

Big Business Crime Ring in Canada Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney-General Robert said today the entire provincial police criminal investigation branch will be employed, if warranted, in connection with a Brockville police report that a group of supposedly respectable persons is masterminding crimes in Canada.

The report was made Wednesday by Wilnot E. Young, Brockville police chief. He said the multi-million-dollar robbery of the Brockville Trust and Savings Company last May was the work of a highly-organized group of criminals—"Many holding positions of trust."

Mr. Robert said Chief Young will be called to Toronto today to tell what he knows about the case.

But in Brockville Chief Young said he talked with the attorney-general today and that he received no invitation to go to Toronto. The chief would not comment on the conversation.

"If the facts warrant it, we will take the necessary steps," the attorney-general said. "If necessary, we'll use every detective we have to get to the bottom of this."

Mr. Robert said the references made in Chief Young's report to the Brockville police commission were the first he had heard of a big-business crime ring.

Chief Young told the commission that "it is alarming and unfortunate that such a group is operating in Canada and masterminding serious crimes while hiding behind the cloak of respectability."

Jodoin Confers With Starr on Strike at CBC

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress went into conference with Labor Minister Starr today after holding a four-hour meeting with a union delegation on the strike of CBC television producers in Montreal.

The head of the 1,100,000-member labor body declined to tell reporters the purpose of his meeting with Mr. Starr but it appeared likely their talks concerned the strike.

He claimed that if the Conservative government had put $30,000,000 into its 50-50 labor cost sharing plan for winter work projects, it would have created jobs for 112,500 men for 60 days. Instead, the $3,000,000 the government has set aside for this purpose will create jobs for only 7,500 men for 60 days, he added.

Agriculture minister Newton Steacy announced a complete economic study of B. C.'s cattle ranching industry will be launched as soon as weather conditions allow.

He said the study will be conducted by the B.C. staff of the federal Department of Agriculture's economics division under the direction of E. D. Woodward of Vancouver.

Education minister Leslie Peterson will be one of the main speakers during today's sitting. A night sitting also is scheduled.

Wild Bill Warwick Returning to Vees

Bill Warwick, one of the highest scorers in Okanagan Senior Hockey League history, will come out of retirement and rejoin the Penticton V's next week.

Warwick, who played with the V's when they captured the Allan Cup championship and world hockey title, will be in the V's lineup when they face Kelowna Packers Tuesday, February 3, in Penticton.

The rugged leftwinger is coming out of retirement in an effort to boost the sagging stock of his beloved V's. They are currently running last in the four-team OSHL.

Warwick will leave the new "Warwick's Fine Foods" restaurant in Edmonton under the management of brothers Grant and Dick to return to action with the V's.

He was, during his career, not only one of the most prolific scorers and penalized players in the OSHL, but also one of the most colorful.

Twice during his Okanagan hockey career he led the OSHL in scoring. He won the scoring crown in 1953-54 with 50 goals and 45 assists and repeated the next year with 36 goals and 37 assists.

In four seasons with the V's, he scored 149 goals in regular season play.

He led all scorers in the 1955 hit a high of six goals in one world hockey tournament and game. He counted two goals when V's defeated Russia 5-0 in the historic 5-0 win over Russia and the final game.

He and his brothers left the V's after the 1955-56 season and spent 1956-57 with Rrall Smokaters of the Western International League. Last season they played with Kamloops Chiefs of the OSHL. At the end of the season, all three retired from hockey.

Twenty-six persons were reported in the home at the time of the fire.

One Patient Killed; 10 Missing in Fire At Nursing Home

GLEN ELLYN, Ill. (AP)—One patient was killed and 10 were feared killed or trapped in a fire in a nursing home today.

First reports said those trapped were pinned under wreckage of a collapsed roof at the Glen Ellyn Acres nursing home. Glen Ellyn is a suburb about 30 miles west of Chicago.

Twenty-six persons were reported in the home at the time of the fire.

He was, during his career, not only one of the most prolific scorers and penalized players in the OSHL, but also one of the most colorful.

Twice during his Okanagan hockey career he led the OSHL in scoring. He won the scoring crown in 1953-54 with 50 goals and 45 assists and repeated the next year with 36 goals and 37 assists.

SOCIAL CREDITERS WOOING CCFer

VICTORIA (CP) — Randolph Harding, 44, is putting in his 14th year as CCF member of the legislature for Kaslo-Slocan. He's getting more attention than he ever got before.

In fact, it's a bit embarrassing. He's being wooed by Social Crediters.

He has been heaped with praise by Attorney-General Bonner, Highways Minister Gagliardi, by Social Credit back-benchers and even by Premier Bennett.

The government party praise stems from his observation that unemployment should be above politics, a problem on which all parties should work together. He said he believes the government is honestly concerned about it.

Ever since there's been embarrassing praise for the Opposition member.

More praise came Thursday night from works minister Chant and J. Donald Smith (SC-Victoria).

"He has something on the ball," said Mr. Chant.

"He makes it a more stable legislature," said Mr. Smith.

"I'm not joining your party," replied Mr. Harding in a whisper, turning red.

South Okanagan Group Cited for Three Awards

TORONTO (CP) — The Life Underwriters Association of South Okanagan has been cited for three awards by the Life Underwriters Association of Canada.

Presentation of the awards was made today in Toronto at the 52nd annual meeting of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada to South Okanagan's official delegate, Leslie A. Cribbs, Great-West Life Assoc. Co.

The first award was that of the "Paul Dubar" trophy which recognizes outstanding proficiency in association membership promotion. Competing in a group of 11 other associations, the South Okanagan group ended the 1958 membership year well ahead with 147 per cent of objective.

The second award was a "conservation honor." This award is also given for membership efficiency but in the area of membership conservation. South Okanagan was one of only two associations in Canada to achieve 100 per cent conservation.

Bigger Holdings, Loans 'Not Solution'

VICTORIA (CP)—A Social Creditor whose riding embraces a big naval establishment and a rich farming area rose in the legislature Thursday night to criticize strongly the recent royal commission report on B.C.'s tree-fruit industry.

Herbert Bruch, who represents Esquimalt — site of the naval dockyard — for the government party, said the report turned in by Dean E. D. MacPhee recommending bigger fruit holdings and bigger loans to fruit farmers was "not a satisfactory solution."

In fact, he saw it as another step in the trend by which "the little fellow is being squeezed out." It smacked of Socialism.

He doubted if orchards should be bigger — 10 acres or more as recommended in the report. Bigger loans weren't the solution either.

Small holdings presented the present-day worker on a fixed income the best opportunity to supplement that income. If operations kept getting bigger and bigger "we eventually will have one of those Russian and Chinese operations."

Mr. Bruch said he could not see subsidization for the fruit farmer unless the government was prepared to subsidize every other type of operation. If the fruit farmers got it, others would scream for it.

As for bigger loans, he said, anyone who has farmed in the Okanagan knows that a "big freeze" can wipe out crops "and then how are you going to keep up the payments?"

The Esquimalt member also criticized the attitude of medical staff on the Workmen's Compensation Board. He told the house that the board seems to have "an overbearing medical staff" whose objective is to "try to find fault" with the reports of private doctors on cases referred to the board.

He believed this was at the root of criticisms that the board turned down too many cases.

Ship Hits Iceberg; 130 Persons Aboard

NEW YORK (AP) — A Danish ship with 130 persons aboard rammed an iceberg off Greenland today. Her engine room flooded and in an SOS report she said she was filling fast.

The United States coast guard in New York said the vessel carried 80 passengers and a crew of 40.

An RCAF Lancaster was to have taken off this afternoon from the Torbay, Nfld., search and rescue centre to aid the vessel with droppable survival gear.

A U.S. Air Force C-54 from Goose Bay, Labrador, took off on a similar mission.

The nearest ships were about 250 miles away.

Low clouds threatened to blanket the Danish vessel from the searchers aloft.

The ship was on her maiden voyage—just like the famed liner Titanic which sank in a similar disaster in 1912—when she struck the iceberg.

At 11:54 a.m. EST her distress message cracked out of her transmitter. Shore stations and ships at sea heard her say "SOS" from Hans Hedtoft, position 59.5 N 43.00 W. Collision with iceberg.

Testimony of Toth and Miss Jorde revealed that on December 27, Toth and Miss Jorde had picked up Lethbe in Toth's car and drove to Penticton to discover the truth of a rumor that a girl in Penticton wanted to see Lethbe.

The two witnesses said they drove to Penticton, looked for William Ganal and Lawrence Heinrich, who were believed to know something more about the rumor, and finally found them.

After some conversation, Ganal and Heinrich left the group, and Toth and Miss Jorde drove Lethbe to a house in Penticton to see Shirley Bjork, court was told.

"There was supposed to be some rumor that Butch (Lethbe) wanted to find out about," Miss Jorde said. "Something to do with Shirley."

Toth and Miss Jorde said Lethbe went into the Bjork house alone, after which they, with Lethbe, went to the Hi-Lite Grill on Front Street for a meal.

Court was told that while in the Hi-Lite, Lethbe phoned his lawyer. Miss Jorde said that after the phone call Lethbe "said he more or less got hell from his lawyer."

Miss Jorde testified that Lethbe told them Shirley had said to him that "she hadn't wanted to press charges against him, but the police had talked her into it."

Lethbe has already been committed for trial in a higher court on a charge of rape.

Crown prosecutor is Peter Vanderhoop, Counsel for Lethbe is H. A. Callaghan, and counsel for Ganal and Heinrich is M. H. Davison. The hearing is being held before Magistrate Jennings. Hearing resumed at 1:30 this afternoon.

No Decision Yet In Lumber Talks

No decision had been announced at press time today in the reopened negotiations at Penticton between the International Woodworkers of America and the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association.

David Pugh Will Represent Board At U.S. Conference

David Pugh, MP for Okanagan-Boundary, has consented to represent Penticton Board of Trade at a one-day Canadian-United States Business Conference at Ottawa, Feb. 18.

The conference, sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the Ottawa Board of Trade, will feature frank talks by top Canadian and American business and government leaders on trade, defense and mutual understanding.

There will also be discussions on the topics: What of our joint economic and trading future? Challenges of Canadian - United States teamwork in defence of the free world, and A public relations approach to improve international understanding.

A major luncheon address will be given by Hon. Lewis L. Strauss, secretary of commerce of the U.S., on the conference theme: "Strengthening the Foundations of the Canadian - United States Partnership."

B.C. Development Discussed in Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Bennett of British Columbia conferred for almost two hours today with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and afterwards, said the discussion consisted mainly of "just a broad exchange of views."

Talking to reporters, Mr. Bennett made no reference to a new plan to combat unemployment in B.C. which he was supposed to place before the prime minister.

He put some ideas before Mr. Diefenbaker for the development of British Columbia, Mr. Diefenbaker said to reporters, "but it was just a preliminary discussion."

The prime minister said Mr. Bennett was to confer later in the day with federal officials.

Later, when questioned in the Commons about the meeting, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"As usual, it was interesting and informative. If the opportunity comes for further meetings, these will take place."

No Request from U.S. for Rocket Firing Over Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith said today he has "no knowledge" of any request being received from the United States to fire a rocket over Canada.

He was replying to Hazen Argue, CCF House Leader, who referred to press reports the U.S. will fire a rocket from the White Sands proving grounds in New Mexico to Alaska.

Inflation Crisis Talk Unjustified Says Fleming

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Fleming said today there is no justification for anyone saying there is an inflationary crisis in Canada.

He was replying in the Commons to Paul Martin (L-Essex East) who sought government comment on a statement by James Muir, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, to the effect that Canadian prices are inflated to such dangerous proportions that Canadian goods are being forced out of world markets.

Mr. Fleming said the government has consistently taken a serious view of inflationary pressures in the economy but there was no justification for saying there is a crisis.

Mr. Bennett said his talk with Mr. Diefenbaker "underscored" federal - provincial financial arrangements. He did not indicate whether he had called for a new full-dress federal-provincial fiscal conference.

"We discussed the building of Canada and of British Columbia as a part of Canada," he said.

Among subjects discussed was that of development of the provincially owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway, but Mr. Bennett declined to go into detail.

Development of Columbia River power also was taken up, he said and he added that the B.C. government will co-operate with the federal government on this.

The central government now is in discussions with the United States administration on the allocation of downstream benefits in the U.S. part of the river that rises in Canada, which could accrue through Canadian action.

"Naturally downstream benefits must be settled first," the premier said.

"I am pledging 100-per-cent co-operation with the federal government."

Mr. Bennett was asked whether the proposal of Swedish industrialist Axel Wenner-Gren to develop power on the Peace River would conflict with Columbia River development.

He said no. The Columbia would be publicly-owned power. The proposed Peace River project would be private power.

He wanted to see both rivers developed.

It would be good for B.C. to have two competitive sources of power," the premier said.

YACHT CLUB PLANS AMBITIOUS EXPANSION PROGRAM

An artist's sketch shows the plan of the Penticton Yacht Club's proposed development at their Okanagan Lake clubhouse site. A general meeting of the club last night endorsed the ambitious project. City support for the program is hoped for and, when completed, the project will constitute a great tourist attraction for Penticton. (See story on page 6)

Big Growth in B.C. Industry Seen in '59

NANAIMO — Recreation Minister Westwood was optimistic as Attorney-General Bonner over future industrial expansion in B.C. when he spoke here at the Chamber of Commerce installation banquet.

Mr. Westwood agreed with Mr. Bonner that there would be a vast improvement in industrial growth this year over 1958 when there was a drop in growth over the previous year amounting to $250,000,000.

He said that industry had expanded to the extent of $1,500,000,000 in 1957 but had lagged last year.

A road through to Port Hardy on northern Vancouver Island would be definitely constructed if the federal government designated it as part of the Trans-Canada Highway, announced Mr. Westwood. The minister felt this would have a "tremendous effect" on the growth of Nanaimo.

GREAT EXPANSION

He stuck to his earlier prediction of great expansion for Nanaimo despite contradiction from some quarters. He still felt Victoria had a good future but that Nanaimo eventually would surpass the capital city. Mr. Westwood said he "hoped to live to see the day when it came about."

H. J. W. Evans, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island, felt the development of the Port Hardy road would be a boon to the Island.

Inflated Costs Putting Canada Out of Markets

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Canada is in danger of losing her high place in world export trade through her own inflated costs, a leading Canadian banker warned Thursday night.

James Muir of Montreal, chairman and president of the Royal Bank of Canada told the annual meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade Thursday night.

"Like the United States, we are pricing ourselves out of the world markets. For Canada, at any rate, this poses a serious problem... our prices are inflated to a point of explosive danger."

"All one has to do is look at a TV program advertising identical goods here and in the United States to learn that our dollar has eroded away and beyond that of the United States... The whole Western world is suffering from inflation and Canada is among the worst."

The Scottish-born banker made these suggestions to expand Canadian trade.

"Look our costs squarely in the eye" and gain productive efficiency while cutting protective tariffs.

Loans from Oyanima, Winfield and Okanagan Center will attend. Speakers this afternoon will be M. P. D. Trumpp, Penticton district horticulturist, and D. A. Allan, Oliver district horticulturist. Following K. Lapins tonight will be A. W. Watt, Summerland, and W. F. Morton, Kelowna.

Plans for Mothers' March Underway

OLIVER — Oliver Kinsmen have plans well on the way for their annual Mothers' March. Once again over 30 local mothers have volunteered to campaign for Child Care funds.

Campaign chairman, Fred Clark, reports that the outlying area will also be canvassed within the week.

The Kinsmen are confident that once again the $1,000 mark will be reached in their campaign. Over a million dollars has been spent by the B.C. Foundation for Child Care, Poliomyelitis and Rehabilitation to reduce the crippling effects of polio, and more recently to help those who are disabled by other diseases or conditions.

In 1958, over $250,000 was spent in providing services in research and prevention, case finding, education and treatment. Of this amount, almost $90,000 was spent in the field of research. This included continuation of a grant to UBC for the research program in crippling nerve conditions.

During the past year the Kinsmen Mobile Hearing Clinic visited Oliver and tested approximately 20 children for hearing and speech defects. As a result of this diagnosis, many of the children are receiving proper treatment.

The object of the Kinsmen-sponsored Mothers' March for 1959, is $275,000. Part of these funds is to be devoted to an expansion on the Speech and Hearing services. Mothers' March takes place on Saturday, Jan. 31.

Movie to Aid PTA Scholarship Fund

OSOYOOS — The regular monthly meeting of the Osoyoos P.T.A. took the form of a social evening, but the games were preceded by a short business meeting.

A report noted that the $100 objective of the Students' Loan Fund had been reached already. Receipts from the school Christmas concert, shared equally by the Loan Fund and the School, were $75, and an anonymous contribution of $25 completed the sum.

A report on progress towards a $200 scholarship, which is to be awarded to a student of the Southern Okanagan high school graduating class, showed that tickets are now on sale for a movie, to be held on Sunday night, March 1, 1959. The tickets are $1.00 and members each picked up a number to sell. The title of the show — "The Mountain" with Spencer Tracy.

Miss Armstrong is again in charge of the poster contest to help advertise this effort. The committee has decided to give three prizes, the first to be $25, the second $15.00 and the third $10. An enjoyable evening followed.

Approximately 50 members and friends attended the meeting. Games were brisk under the supervision of Miss Miriam Leary, program chairman, and Miss Gail Armstrong.

Harold Brown had to resign the position of treasurer due to his working hours and Ed, Albrecht was voted in by acclamation to succeed him.

Loan Plan to Clear Farm Land To be Enlarged

CLOVERDALE (CP) — An announcement will be made in the legislature Monday that the government loan plan to farmers will be greatly enlarged to permit vast acreages to be cleared, Agriculture Minister Newton Sleazy said Thursday.

Speaking to the 71st annual banquet of the Lower Fraser Valley Exhibition Society, Mr. Sleazy said that B. C. must develop "everything it's got in the way of agriculture to take care of coming developments."

He said with urban districts creeping on to farm land, farmers must put scientific developments into their farming and use every foot of space to supply future settlements.

Central Welfare Re-Elects Officers

The Penticton Central Welfare Committee at its annual meeting yesterday afternoon, reviewed another year of accomplishment in its function of providing temporary assistance in emergencies to needy persons and families.

All the officers were re-elected for another term, comprising Miss E. A. Thomas, president; Mrs. A. A. Shipton, vice-president; Miss M. Young, secretary; and Mrs. D. W. Forrest, treasurer.

CLOTHING DISTRIBUTED — Mrs. R. A. Hubley reported that a total of more than 3,000 articles of clothing were given out through the new building at the Seventh Day Adventist church.

The committee's total receipts for 1958, Mrs. Forrest reported, came to $1,431.33 including the annual $500 grant from the city. Expenditures came to $925.56 leaving a balance for the year of $505.77.

In her president's report, Miss Thomas said the committee's Christmas project was again very successful with toys and turkey hampers distributed to needy families.

EXTENSIVE CO-OPERATION — In this connection Miss Thomas noted: "We have to thank so many organizations and individuals for donations of money, clothing, wrapping paper, turkeys, and toys for Christmas, that the list is too lengthy to enumerate. But we do most sincerely appreciate the support of the community. This effort means a very great deal to many who have been unfortunate."

Individual letters of appreciation are going out to all the organizations and individuals assisting the committee in its work.

AT SUMMERLAND BOARD'S ANNUAL MEETING

Good Citizen Award To Mrs. O'Mahoney

SUMMERLAND — Mrs. J. E. O'Mahoney was named Summerland's Good Citizen of 1958 last night at the annual banquet of the Board of Trade, and received the Good Citizen cup.

Mrs. O'Mahoney, wife of Summerland's hospital administrator, has been active in a wide range of community work during her 33 years' residence here.

She was one of the first leaders in the Guide and Brownie movement in Summerland. At present she is an executive member of the B.C. Cancer Society. In making the citation and presentation, Fred Schumann, a past president of the trade board told of Mrs. O'Mahoney's assistance in Queen crowning ceremonies for the board and in St. John Ambulance and Red Cross work. She is also a member of the Kiwanis Club and has given in many ways to countless friends in the community and in her hospitable home.

L. A. Miller, retiring president, introduced Stuart Hawkins, president of the Penticton board of trade and Mrs. Hawkins, Stuart Hestley of the Kelowna board; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Salting, Associated boards, Naramata; Mrs. L. A. Miller; Reeve and Mrs. Atkinson; Board of Trade queen, Miss Elsie Karlstrom and her escort, Bill Dunsdon; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schumann, and Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Perry. Mr. Perry is the secretary of the board.

Reeve Atkinson spoke of the part the board of trade plays in the community in promoting useful projects and said: "It merits support." Mr. Miller thanked his committee and especially the secretary, Lorne Perry, for help during the past year.

B.C. FUTURE EXTOLLED

A. K. MacLeod introduced the guest speaker, The Right Rev. Bishop A. H. Sovereign (retired) of Vernon, former Bishop of Athabasca, who is widely acclaimed across Canada as a statesman of the church. Bishop Sovereign was one of the founders of the John Howard Society, and is well-known for aid to juvenile and adult offenders and in social work.

His subject was "The Importance of British Columbia," was developed from the statement "all great movements of the human family have been westward." He traced wanderings of the Aryans, Romans and other civilizations, coming to the Pilgrim Fathers then the trek across North America and finally to British Columbia, the fastest growing province in Canada.

The speaker predicted enormous development of the wealth of forest, stream and mine in B.C. and prophesied a rosy future for the Okanagan, which he said will be the "food basket of Vancouver" due to industrialization of the Fraser Valley. Bishop Sovereign said fruit, vegetables, and other foods would in time be transported by air to the coast from Penticton airport, Kelowna's airstrip and "Frank Becker's field" at Vernon.

Home-Maker Service — A new report presented was that of the Home-Maker Service, organized last year to provide temporary household help in homes where the mother is ill.

Miss Thomas, director of the service, noted that total revenue for the year was $1,038.35 of which $687.88 was in donations and $350.47 in charges paid by clients. Wages paid to the home-makers amounted to $493.15 leaving a balance of $545.08.

The service filled 21 requests for home-maker assistance and two other cases are still pending. Percentage of the charges paid by clients was 71 per cent leaving 29 per cent to be met from the service's donations. This was considered a very good percentage of payment.

Fluoridation for Health

National Health Week opening February 1, is an appropriate time to consider our duty as citizens with regard to the fact that we are continuing to rear new members of our society of whom 95 per cent are dental defectives. This in spite of the fact that it is within our power, by making the decision, to prevent more than 50 percent of this disability.

The word "health" means wholeness, physically, mentally and socially.

Poor dental health impairs physical and mental activity because it is promoted by a soft unbalanced diet and by opening up a pathway for the invasion of the body by disease germs. The social outlook is clouded by the possession of poor teeth arousing feelings of shame, instead of pride, and a reaction towards society of unconscious feelings of rage and aggression.

As stated before health means wholeness. Proper health cannot be experienced when one organ of the body, in most people, is in a broken down state of decay and dissolution.

This chronic disease cannot be controlled by treatment and repair. At least three times the present number of dentists would be needed. If there were enough dentists there would not be enough money. The rate of this disease is many times our capacity to deal with it.

Community Preventive Dental Clinics do much good for Grade 1 and some pre-school children. They can never be extended, however, under present conditions of uncontrolled decay, to ensure that all people grow up with adequate and cared-for teeth. This is the goal but it is impossible to attain at present.

The decision that would change this tremendously, and raise the health of people greatly, is to fluoridate public water supplies. Children receiving this water from birth would show, on the average, only four cavities of slow decay where without it they would show, on the average, 10 cavities with a faster type of decay. This would be the beginning of a period of prevention rather than the present situation where no prevention is attempted and treatment facilities are totally insufficient.

Opposition to the introduction of fluorine in the water has been aroused but so it was with vaccination, immunization, chlorination of water, pasteurization of milk and the addition of iodine to salt. In spite of this original opposition, which was fierce, these methods have proved to be conspicuously successful. Countless lives have been saved and this has put us in the position where we have the time and energy to tackle the vast problem of dental disease.

A public investigation into the safety, effectiveness and all the other aspects of the fluoridation of water supplies was undertaken in 1957 by a Commission of Inquiry set up by the government of New Zealand. The Commission's conclusions after six months work and exhaustive investigation, were that substantial benefits would be conferred on New Zealand if the fluoridation of public water supplies was adopted.

The specific objections raised by the anti-fluoridationists were examined and one and all shown to be based on faulty observations, reasonings and conclusions. The report is available for all to read as an official publication of the New Zealand government.

The adoption of this automatic, cheap, and safe method would lift the dental health situation to new possibilities. In five years time children, born since the fluoridation of the water supply, would need less than half the treatment they need now. As this fortunate generation moves on through life those whose teeth were severely damaged before this new era would gradually pass from the scene, leaving a complete population with a superior state of health.

Decree on Female Sorcery

The French government, it is reported, has not yet revoked a royal edict of 1770, issued by Louis XV, to prevent the deception of men by feminine wiles. It may be doubted that the edict was very effective even at the time, and certainly its enforcement has been neglected in subsequent decades. The de Gaulle administration, however, reflecting rural conservatism rather than urban frivolity, is unlikely to remove the edict from the books. If it takes any action, it may, in fact, use its emergency powers to enforce the royal will of his late Majesty.

Perhaps Louis XV was influenced into reaction by the goings-on at Versailles under his august predecessor, Louis Quatorze, the Sun King, immediate author of the expression, "L'Etat, c'est moi," whose yen for conquests was personal as well as martial. At any rate, the edict declared that "whatsoever female shall draw into matrimony" any male subject of His Majesty

"by means of scents, oils, false teeth, hoops in petticoats, slippers with high heels, or false bosoms or hips, shall be prosecuted for sorcery." The victimized male subject, moreover, would be set free from legal bondage.

Witchcraft can still be prosecuted in most countries, though the penalties are less severe than in the days when they included execution by fire. But to enforce this royal edict in modern France — or promulgate something like it in Canada — would cause a social and economic revolution of the first magnitude. Far from protecting the gullible male, society today incites the employment of sorcery to ensnare him. And thinking of the female vote, no Parliament would dare legislate against the practice. That is why in this matter President de Gaulle, with his great authority, may be the last hope of the men of France.

Air Pollution Talks Planned

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD
Special London (Eng.)
Correspondent for The Herald
LONDON — Representatives of some of the Canadian provinces are expected to attend and take part in the first international conference ever to be held to deal with the subject of air pollution. This conference, which will bring together anti-smog men from many parts of the world, is to be held in London later this year. The date has not yet been definitely fixed. It is expected to be of special interest to the province of Ontario, which has had, for the last two or three years, a committee of the Legislature making a study of the control of air pollution.

SUPPORT FOR COLUMNIST

Sir:—
I read with considerable interest that an article written by Patrick Nicholson, published in your paper, has been the subject of a question in Parliament.

Apparently Mr. Nicholson's article dealt with a "group" within the Press Gallery which are favored by the CBC to the exclusion of all others. If such is the case, may I add my voice to that of Mr. Nicholson and state further that this "group" system seems to be in vogue in all other branches of television.

In fact it is my belief that there is a "Family Compact" inter-related by blood, marriage and mutual interests, that completely dominates writing, performing and producing.

Daily we see such things as "I'll be your guest, you be mine." Recently to this has been added, "I'll interview you, you interview me". All of course at the usual fees. One actress had the affront to ask Mr. A. Davidson Dunton in an interview if he represented the performers getting much larger salaries than he did while Chairman of the Board of Governors.

The CBC pay lip service to developing Canadian culture and arts while in fact confining all opportunity to a favored few in the Toronto compact.

It is hardly fair to expect Mr. Nowlan to intervene in this situation but there is no reason why a Royal Commission or Parliamentary Committee couldn't investigate it thoroughly. If each employee of the CBC were asked to list blood or marriage relatives also employed by CBC it should make an interesting and complicated study.

The stock CBC statement that "naturally there must be people the producers can call upon for dependable work" is the understatement of the decade.

Yours truly,
(signed) A. W. Roy

Tells of Mental Retardation

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Three out of every 100 children born are destined to be mentally retarded. More than 100,000 such children are born in the United States each year. Our total of retarded children and adults now stands at about 4,800,000 or approximately 3 per cent of our population.

PUBLIC UNAWARE
Yet most of the general public is virtually unaware of the problem. I'd like to tell you a bit about it, not to scare you, but to inform you.

When we speak of mental retardation, we mean a condition of impaired or incomplete mental development dating from birth or at least an early age.

As for their intellectual capacities, these persons range from the totally helpless to many who aren't much different from you and I except that they fall into the lower intellectual levels.

NOT A DISEASE
Mental retardation is not a disease; it is a condition. However, diseases might be associated with its development.

In fact, we suspect that at least 70 diseases or mishaps occurring before or during birth, or during early childhood, may be responsible for most instances of mental retardation.

Causes before birth include hepatitis, German measles and other diseases occurring in the mother during pregnancy; incompatible blood between mother and child, such as the Rh factor; glandular disorders; X-rays and toxic chemicals.

Although genetic variations are not yet understood completely, some scientists believe them responsible for many cases of mental retardation.

DURING BIRTH
Causes during birth include: abnormal position of the foetus; difficult forceps delivery or hemorrhage, since such causes often cause injury to the baby either directly or by reducing

The conference, which will have the Duke of Edinburgh as its chief patron, is being arranged by the National Society for Clean Air. For an emblem the conference will have a black and white silhouette of John Evelyn, the 17th century diarist who campaigned against the smoke nuisance of London 300 years ago. He wrote about London smoke in a treatise entitled "Fumifugium, of the Inconvenience of the Aer and Smoake of London dissipated."

60th ANNIVERSARY

The international conference is being held coincident with the observance of the 60th anniversary of the National Society for Clean Air. When it was organized 60 years ago, it was named "The Coal Smoke Abatement Society." But with the advent of many other factors, other than coal, which pollute the atmosphere, the name was changed to its present form.

In fact, papers and reports to be presented at the international gathering will include those on airborne radioactive materials, fumes and gases from road vehicles, and smoke, grit and dust.

The Society, once a lone voice championing the cause of cleaner air, can claim to have changed the views of governments, local authorities and the public in general. Its efforts over the years led to Britain's Clean Air Act, and the setting up of smoke-control areas, more than 60 of which are now in operation, with a further 200 under way.

OTTAWA REPORT

Liberal Makes Eloquent Plea

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The Throne Speech debate, to which the first ten days of the new session have as usual been dedicated, has produced very little attempt to suggest solutions to our country's dire problems. Instead of statesmanlike "proposals, we have heard far too much partisan snarling. Naturally the new Conservative Government is anxious to establish its ally; and just as naturally the Liberal Party, whose mismanagement whilst in power set the stage for our troubles, is anxious to try to pin the badge of incompetence on their political rivals.

Some Cabinet Ministers have made persuasive contributions to the debate, notably Trade Minister Gordon Churchill and Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness. Some back-benchers of both parties have given us, as is customary in this debate, interesting descriptions of their constituents in distant parts of this broad country. One speech which I would nominate for the back-benchers' "Oscar" was the contribution of W. L. Houck, Liberal MP for Niagara Falls, who made within his allotted span of forty minutes to show a mature attitude towards his fellow MPs, friend and foe alike; to plead the cause of his own riding; and yet to give us also an interesting account of a worthwhile job performed by some Parliamentarians and a statesmanlike reflection upon the tasks of every Canadian Government.

Some of the points made by Mr. Houck, who has been a member of the Federal Parliament since 1953, he has been a member of the Ontario Government; and earlier this month, Bill Houck visited Washington as a member of a Canadian parliamentary delegation. He no doubt enjoyed that touch, and with a sly humor he explained that he was a better Canadian than his colleagues because he had become a Canadian by deliberate personal choice, whereas the other delegates were Canadians by the unpremeditated impersonal accident of birth. And when he shook hands with President Eisenhower, he described how, 42 years ago before he became a Canadian, he voted for a Republican candidate for the Presidency, and went to bed thinking that his choice had been elected, only to wake up the next morning to learn that Democratic candidate Woodrow Wilson had just nosed out his choice, Charles Hughes, by the late vote.

Bill Houck started his speech on an unusual note. Deferring until later the customary congratulatory to the mover and seconder of the Address in Reply, he soliloquized: "One returns to a new session of Parliament with a sense of anticipation, looking forward to meeting various members of Parliament in sincere friendship and wondering how they are faring in their individual ridings."

That non-partisan friendliness was emphasized in his welcome to the new MPs, "especially to the lady who represents Grenville-Dundas (Mrs. Jean Castelman), because I have always had a soft spot in my heart for her father (Hon. Earl Rowe), with whom I have enjoyed a warm friendship for many years." That friendship has grown, across the chasm of political enmity, from the seed of their common U.S. birth.

CANADA AND U.S.A.
After describing in detail the worthwhile achievements of the Canadian Parliamentary Delegation in Washington recently, which made history as the first standing committee of legislators of two sovereign nations, Mr. Houck highlighted his outstanding speech with an eloquent plea which crystallized the needs of today: "I have always felt that Canadians are like the people of the United States in their strong determination never to be found on the backs of the weak or at the feet of the strong; we will be at the side of those who believe in freedom and democracy as we do. I think our history is now at the crossroads. Our deliberations in Parliament, and the policies we follow, will affect future generations. When we are defining these policies, we must never lose sight of the fact that the great question of our time is whether the world will follow the high road to freedom or stumble into the dead-end street of Communism. This government, as well as we in opposition, has two or three aims. We must safeguard our freedom; we must maintain economic stability; and we must care for the human problems of individual citizens. In my opinion, the greatest threat to democracy and freedom comes from within ourselves. We as members of Parliament must have the courage to lead and to discharge our responsibilities in an effective and fearless way. Democracy, freedom and responsibility go hand in hand. If we lose one, morning to learn that Democratic

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Political Crisis Troubles Italy

BY JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The collapse of Premier Amintore Fanfani's Italian government is reminiscent in some respects of France's pell-mell political life under the Fourth Republic.

Perhaps Italian President Giovanni Gronchi is tempted at times to wish for an Italian Charles de Gaulle who would restore political stability with a strong hand as has happened in France.

Italy, like France, has suffered since the Second World War from a multiplicity of political parties, including a powerful Communist party hungering for power.

But the immediate cause of Fanfani's downfall after less than seven months of power was the manoeuvring of the Socialists. Similar Socialist manoeuvring felled Premier Adone Zoli after only 22 days in office, and Premier Antonio Segni after 22 months.

Socialists DIVIDED
The Socialists are divided into two large camps. The right-wing Social Democrats served in Fanfani's coalition government with his Christian Democrats, while the left-wing Italian Socialist party under Pietro Nenni was in the opposition.

Ironically, Nenni brought on the crisis by moving slightly to the right. At a recent party congress he announced that his group henceforth will follow an independent line, breaking away from the Communists with whom Nenni has been allied since the war.

At the same time, however, he reiterated his opposition to the Fanfani government and declared that he would continue to battle any government dominated by the Christian Democrats, the centre group that has held a commanding position in Italian politics most of the time since the war.

Other Social Democrats feel that Nenni's move to the right was slight and that they will do better to maintain their connection with the centre groups in support of NATO and Western policies in the cold war.

Fanfani's edge in the chamber of deputies has always been small, although last May gave the four moderate, pro-Western centre parties — the Christian Democrats, Social Democrats, Liberals and Republicans — a sufficient working majority.

Fanfani wasn't able to include the Liberals and Republicans in his coalition and his cabinet survived as long as it did only because the Republicans refused to vote against him in parliamentary issues.

The May elections showed a significant increase in the popular vote for the Christian Democrats, gaining particularly from the far-right parties.

Science Vital in Crime Detection

By DON HOYT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP) — Science is the ultimate weapon in the armory of justice. Unlimited possibilities lie ahead.

"Any number of attempts are being made to develop a method of identifying a hair with a head," says Staff Sgt. W. W. Sutherland of the RCMP crime detection laboratory here.

"It will be wonderful when we can say this paint came from this or that car without just saying it has the general characteristics."

OPENED IN 1957

Sgt. Sutherland is chief of the six men and one woman staffing the third and newest of Canada's RCMP crime laboratories. It was opened in 1957. The first was opened in Regina in 1938 and Ottawa, where fingerprints and reconstruction work are done, followed three years later.

RCMP scientists and technicians are not investigators. When asked for assistance by a recognized law enforcement agency they determine whether a link exists between a clue and a suspected object or person. It could be between a bullet and a gun; a hair and a suspect's head; a few flakes of paint and the damaged fender of a suspected low-speed car.

detachment investigating a bank robbery in the Atlantic provinces might come a package of objects which to a suspect could mean imprisonment or freedom.

It might contain a few drops of dried blood from a wound inflicted on the robber by a bank guard, a typewritten note demanding money which was handed to a bank teller and a bullet from the gun fired by the robber. Later might come a sample of blood taken from the suspect; a typewritten throw away a few blocks from his home and a gun recovered when the man was arrested.

BALLISTICS EXPERT

The gun and bullet would go to Staff Sgt. Sutherland, born in Warren, Minn., and a veteran of 24 years with the RCMP. 15 in the force's scientific branch. He has handled "several hundred" types of guns.

"I'd fire about five rounds into water, oil or sawdust and through a low-powered microscope determine by markings whether these bullets and the one found in the bank were fired from the same gun," he says.

Typewriters are individuals, particularly old ones. They would show some characteristic of the machine it was typed on. The job of connecting the two would go to Cpl. A. M. Headrick of Brooks, Alta. and Constable J. H. Hodgins of Semans, Sask. Hand-written or printed notes, forged checks and all other documents are also in their field. Illustrations are the backbone of their court testimony. Handwriting might be photographically enlarged 10 times to show jurors the similarity between a forged signature and that of a suspect. If there are erasures on a document and a new name substituted, the original will show up under infra-red or ultra-violet light.

BLOOD TESTS

The blood found at the scene of the robbery and the sample taken from the suspect would be tested, perhaps, by W. N. Dionne of Arthurette, N.B., one of three civilian employees of the laboratory.

The first job would be to determine if the blood was human. Further tests would determine its group. If a rare type, dozens of suspects might be eliminated by a simple adjustment of a microscope.

The other staff members: Madeline R. A. C. Rouen, a Frenchwoman and a graduate in bio-chemistry from the University of Caen, specializes in poisons, alcohol, fuels, drugs, fibres and a score of other subjects; Matt Smith, a Scot, handles safe-cracking, car accidents or cases involving metallic poisons or paints.

Constable W. B. Robertson now studying at Mount Allison University for a bachelor of science degree in chemistry.

Reports Highlight Federation Meeting

Various reports highlighted the January meeting of the Women's Federation of the Penticton United Church held in the church hall under the chairmanship of the newly-elected president, Mrs. J. A. Lamb.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. M. K. Nicholls, WMS secretary, and Mrs. A. M. Warren, 1st vice-president, who spoke of the World Day of Prayer, which is for all church women of all denominations and of every continental. The theme this year is "He said, Lord I believe, and he worshipped Him." Representatives from a number of local churches have arranged a service to be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Friday, February 13, at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. F. D. Kay reported on the meeting held in the church early this month when Miss Inez Morrison, secretary of personnel committee on women's work in the United Church, spoke in the interests of the women's committee of Christian vocation.

Business also included plans for the annual meeting February 2 which will take the form of a potluck supper. Those attending are requested to take their own dishes. The Wo-He-Lo Circle is in charge of the supper.

Prior to the business of the afternoon, a devotional service was led by Rev. R. C. Gates and the federation prayer read by Mrs. A. M. Warren.

Following adjournment tea was served by Mrs. R. W. Slade, Mrs. A. Bayes and Mrs. E. Amos of the Evening Circle.

Colored Slides Shown at Meeting Of Rebekah Lodge

A showing of colored slides taken on a visit abroad and a lively commentary by Mrs. F. E. Atkinson of Summerland on her recent travels in Europe with Mr. Atkinson provided two hours of pleasing entertainment for Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and their friends.

The program followed the regular meeting of Redland Rebekah Lodge, No. 12, held in the IOOF Hall. Noble Grand Mrs. Audrey Stockford thanked Mrs. Atkinson for her interesting presentation. The slides were shown with the assistance of Mrs. Earl Hughes.

Highlighting the short business meeting was the presentation of a Past Nobel Grand's Jewel to Mrs. William Mathers by district deputy president Mrs. H. A. Everitt.

Following adjournment refreshments were served by Mrs. Perry Kinkade and her social committee.

A hot iron run lightly over a damp cloth will freshen a crushed pile rug.

Guide, Brownie Leaders Chosen By Peachland L.A.

PEACHLAND — The regular meeting of the L.A. to the Guide and Brownie Association was held in the library on Tuesday evening with the president, Mrs. J. Blower, in the chair.

New leaders for the Brownie Pack were elected with Mrs. Jeff Todd as Brown Owl and Mrs. D. Pritchard and Mrs. Peter Spackman as Tawny Owls.

Mrs. Bruce Blagborne, divisional commissioner of Summerland, and Mrs. Fenwick, captain of the Summerland district, were in attendance and spoke on several pertinent subjects.

District commissioner, Mrs. Nora Kopp, expects to resume duties soon following a lengthy illness.

The Peachland Company of Guides received an invitation from the 2nd Company Guides, Summerland, to attend a skating party the end of this week.

The next meeting of the L.A. is to take the form of a quilting party on February 10.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

When decorating a child's room, remember that children like bold, primitive colors better than the subtler shades adults enjoy.

WINTER RESORT WEAR

Harbingers of spring go south in the smart accessories displayed above. From London comes the Swiss lace shoes called "Rosalind" with matching lace bag, while the equally attractive Milan bag featured by Josef for resort wear now will add interest to any summer costume later.

CHIC AND FLUFFY

BY TRACY ADRIAN

It's like floating on Cloud One to wear this soft, fluffy-looking suit made in a brushed fabric that is as light as thistledown. Cut in an easy Chanel manner, the cardigan jacket is buttoned with three huge pearl discs. The slender skirt has an elasticized waistline for an easy, supple fit and performs in a well-groomed way because of the taffeta lining.

SALADS, HORS D'OEUVRES

LET'S EAT

Smorgasbord Supper For a Special Treat

Throughout the country, smorgasbord suppers are featured for special occasions, usually by church or club groups. However, in Ishpeming, Michigan, they are a weekly treat.

The Mather Inn converts its Colonial dining room to a festive setting for a smorgasbord supper every Sunday night the year round.

Right after lunch draperies are changed to pale rose. Rose-colored cloths cover the smorgasbord tables and dining tables for 6 or 8 guests; roses or other pink flowers are used for decoration. Candles light the tables.

People from miles around converge here for a good time, to entertain guests, to enjoy a fine meal and, afterward, to chat in the lounge before the crackling fire or play games.

VARIED DESSERTS
An oval-shaped "island" table (with three surfaces) holds a variety of delicacies. The Mather Inn chef presides over a stream table featuring roast meat and poultry with the vegetables close by.

Desserts vary. They include a fruit compote, fresh-from-the-oven crisp, a specialty such as apple crisp with cream chantilly, assorted cheese with crackers and plenty of coffee.

I hope inns in other localities will start a Sunday evening smorgasbord. It is so often almost impossible to find a good place to eat out on Sunday.

The chef and I enjoyed the following specialities served the evening we visited the smorgasbord.

BAKED FISH, STUFFED MUSHROOMS
(The Mather Inn)
Rinse 1 lb. fresh mushrooms. Cut off stem ends; carefully remove stems from caps and chop fine. Slow-saute 20 min. in 1/4 c.

Woman Conducts War Against Communism

By EDNA USHER

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A one-woman war against communism is being waged by Marjorie Lamb, director of The Alert Service.

The organization gathers information about the policies and operations of communism.

Miss Lamb formerly was president of Altrusa International, Inc., an association for executive and professional women.

Financed by grants from organizations like the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, the Catholic Women's league and individual donations, Miss Lamb combs through magazines, pamphlets and newspapers to find organizations that are a cover for communism.

From her information she is able to say just which Canadian organizations are "Communist front" groups, those that are controlled by Communists and those that include Communists.

"Communists are very active in Canada—there are 700 that we know of in Toronto alone," she said. "They are infiltrating into local councils, school boards, even women's church groups."

They work under the control of Russia and they are bent on making Canada a Communist country, she says.

Red-haired Miss Lamb first became interested in combating communism in 1926 when she was studying at the Sorbonne in Paris.

A trained interior decorator, she has worked in a munitions factory and as a secretary. After the war she took on the job of studying Communist organizations and their activities for a group of businessmen. The Alert Service grew out of that and was established in 1950.

"We must study Communists to fight them successfully," said Miss Lamb who was president of Altrusa International from 1955 to 1957. She writes pamphlets about Communist operations in Canada.

Before joining an organization, she says, Canadians should make sure it is not a Communist-front group or is controlled by Communists. They should be certain the election candidate they vote for is not connected with such groups, and should beware of "disruptive persons who try to stir up trouble."

"Communists will often back a good cause—such as better bus services or better sewers and make political capital from it," she said. "The only way to fight this is to see that democratic groups espouse the good causes first."

THRIVE ON APATHY
She says Communists thrive on apathy, especially the type of apathy that enables them to become active in otherwise innocent organizations.

Parents should examine even the summer camp to which their children go.

"Communist-front groups have held summer camps for young-people the opportunity for indoctrination," she said.

Remove; season with 1 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. pepper; measure. Fine-chop equal amount of cooked fresh white fish. Combine with mushrooms. Add 1 tsp. chopped parsley and 1/2 tsp. garlic salt. To each cup of mixture, blend in 1 egg.

Fill mushroom caps; heap filling high. Dust with bread crumbs. Place 1/4 tsp. butter on each mound.

Arrange on oiled baking sheet; bake 15 min. in mod. oven, 375 deg. F. Serve hot "as is," or on rounds of fried bread.

NOT GREEN BEAN SALAD

Add 1 chopped small onion and saute until limp. Stir in 1/2 tsp. vinegar, 1/4 tsp. sugar, and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Add to beans. Garnish with minced parsley. Serve very hot.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Mother-in-Law's Favoritism and Visits Annoy Two Young Matrons

DEAR MARY HAWORTH—My sister-in-law and I have two problems which call for non-partisan, clear headed answers.

One: Our mother-in-law insists on "dropping in" usually early in the day, although each of us, Sara and I, have several small children of pre-school age. Mrs. Mom (I'll call her) says she is "family," and we shouldn't worry. But we and our husbands have asked her repeatedly to telephone us before she comes.

Two: She has her daughter, and the latter's husband and four children, to Sunday dinner about twice a month. She invites us once a year — to either Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner (but not both).

GRANDCHILDREN ENTER CROSSFIRE
Recently our husbands learned of this inequity, but not from us — and have forbidden us to have any celebrations for our children's birthdays, as we would have to invite the grandparents, or explain why not (which our husbands don't want to do).

Please comment. We are miserable, troubled and in need of guidance.

WHY BROOD ON NORMAL FLAWS?
Dear K.Y. — Inasmuch as human nature doesn't run to perfection, and in-laws have their share of flaws, like the rest of us, it seems good sense to accept your mother-in-law at her real value, and cut out the brooding about her oddities.

You know the old saying, born of folk-wisdom; "A son is a son 'til he takes a wife; but a daughter is a daughter all her life." What does it mean? Well, your alleged Problem No. 2 is an apt illustration. A mother tends to feel closer to married daughter and her flock, than to the wives and children of married sons.

Is this somebody's fault? Not really. It is just the natural bias of humankind. A bridegroom, to be a man, has to learn to carry a family-load of responsibility.

Thus it is an intrinsic part of his growth-pattern to shove off from his parents, to a distance (geographic or social) that permits him to establish independent balance.

NOTHING WRONG IN THIS TREND
A daughter grows up in a different way. After marriage she may become even closer to her mother, in sympathy, than before — without posing a case of "arrested development."

As a wife she is subordinate to her husband's authority, as she was subordinate to her parents in pre-married years. And now she has a woman's interests and cares, on the adult plane, to share with her mother, who understands.

As for daughters-in-laws, presumably they will incline more towards their own mothers, than towards their husband's mother, for partisan "woman-support". Since, again, it is "nature" (as women know) for a man's mother to feel instinctively jealous and rejecting towards his mate-love. Consciously she may manage nobly to rise above this primitive reflex; but on the emotional level, a man's mother and his wife are involuntarily at cross-purposes.

SONS AND WIVES TALK FOOLISHLY
So I think it's ridiculous for you two matrons and your husbands to be "talking up a storm" about your mother-in-law's seeming partiality for her daughter. Probably the daughter leans on her and cultivates her to a far greater extent than you gals do. If you'd like to see her oftener (which you don't), you could entertain in her honor, occasionally!

Your husbands' spite-policy — of no birthday parties for the kids, because you'd have to ask the grandparents or explain why not — is just plain crackpot, in my opinion. Are they striking at you, for being so pettish about their mother? I think you should all be ashamed of yourselves.

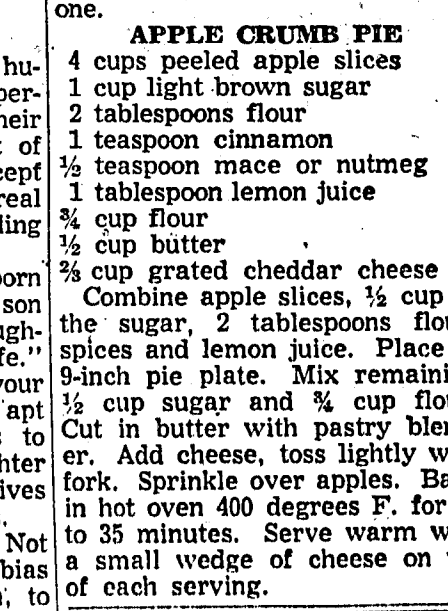

Children's birthday parties are for children, to teach them to rejoice in the gift of life — and it's a disgrace to be twisting the topic into a subject of family feud — and-fuss! —

2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon mace or nutmeg
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Combine apple slices, 1/2 cup of the sugar, 2 tablespoons flour, spices and lemon juice. Place in 9-inch pie plate. Mix remaining 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 cup flour. Cut in butter with pastry blender. Add cheese, toss lightly with fork. Sprinkle over apples. Bake in hot oven 400 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Serve warm with a small wedge of cheese on top of each serving.

Yacht Club Expansion An Ambitious Program

BY STAN KELLY
Penticton Yacht Club at a meeting held at the Prince Charles Hotel last night finalized plans to greatly increase their facilities.

The well-attended meeting voted unanimously to proceed with the plans set forth by the club executive and to ascertain costs and endeavor to arrange to lease the land from the City at the proposed site.

Commodore Dave Roeger, in opening the meeting, gave a report of the progress the club has made since its formation a year and a half ago. He went on to say that the club's future depended on bigger and better facilities and that it was the feeling of the executive that steps should be taken immediately to make such facilities possible.

Vice-Commodore John Glass reported on what had been done in the last year to provide moorage for boats on Okanagan Lake.

He pointed out that the Dominion Government had spent $30,000 last year building the new break-water. To this the club itself added more moorage facilities, so that at present Penticton had available safe moorage for any number of boats that might be expected to require them in the next two to three years.

He outlined briefly the Club's proposed plans.

Mr. Andrew, making it clear that he was not at the meeting in any official capacity, said that it was his opinion that City Council was favorably impressed with the club's progress to date and that they would be most co-operative in any future plans.

He also felt, from sitting in on meetings between Council and Yacht Club, that the city would favor leasing of the land and would probably provide some relaxation from taxation, subject of course to the approval of the electors.

Mr. Andrew said that if leases were granted they would be for a period of twenty years and that relaxation of taxes would be on a ten-year basis.

Any lease would have to have the approval of the Provincial Dept. of Lands, but again it was his opinion that would be forthcoming if required.

After a vote of thanks had been extended to Mr. Andrew for his help, Mr. Glass stated that though the Yacht club's proposed plan might eventually be much larger, the present executive felt that the club's sights for the present should be set on building a clubhouse similar to the City's Centennial Pavilion and a marina at an approximate cost of $30,000-$50,000.

An interesting point was brought up during the meeting when someone inquired if there were any possibility of boats passing from Okanagan to Skaha Lake. Mr. Andrew mentioned during his talk that he felt that this was definitely possible. Mr. Glass stated that this had been proposed quite some time ago when the course of the river was changed.

An election of officers was held before closing and four new members were chosen for the executive. Elected to two-year terms were, Bob Bailey, Gordon Harris, Frank Christian and Bob Gordon.

Sign Contract For Title Bout

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The "secret" finally is out. Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is going to fight Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. Best guess on the date is New York or Los Angeles in June or September.

After prolonged negotiations by a staff of legal brains, the two warriors finally signed Thursday in the shadow of the smorgasbord at a Swedish restaurant.

But the mystery isn't over yet. The date and site are to be named within 30 days. At the moment promoter "Bill" Rosenzweig says New York and Los Angeles are the favorites with Colorado Springs a strong third. He can stage the bout anytime between now and Sept. 30.

Joe Cronin to be Installed Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Cronin officially will be installed as president of the American League when the major league club owners hold their annual mid-winter baseball meetings here Saturday.

The meetings will open with the leagues in separate sessions and close with a joint conference. The chief topic of discussion will center around the Caribbean winter league's request to liberalize restrictions on player talent. In Washington last month, the club owners rejected the Caribbean's request to permit Latin Americans to play winter league ball no matter how many years they've been in the majors.

Under the current rule, a man who has played two consecutive years in the majors cannot play winter ball.

Juniors Shine As Skate Trials Open

By EDNA USHER
NORANDA, Que. (CP) — The usual polished performance of the country's top pair and sparkling efforts by a trio of juniors launched the Canadian figure skating championships Thursday.

Geraldine Fenton of Burlington, Ont., and Bill McLachlan of Toronto, Dominion pairs champs, placed first in both their events—the qualifying rounds of the senior waltz and ten step.

Wendy Griner, a 14-year-old from Toronto who finished third last year and reads mystery novels between skating sessions to keep calm, led the compulsory figures for the junior women's singles.

NORANDA PAIR TOPS
A boy and girl from Noranda, only entrants from this Quebec mining centre, topped the elimination round in the junior ice dance and also qualified in the senior ten step.

The two, Vivian Tuttle and Gilles Vannasse, met a year ago at a skating summer school and admit to going steady, which some dancers frown on. Both are 17.

The three-day championships continue today in the Noranda Arena with finals in the junior women's, men's, pairs and dance.

Wendy amassed 346 points in her compulsory figures which count for 60 per cent of the scoring. The rest will be added in the free-skating event today.

Close on her heels were Shiraz Kenworthy, 15, of Vancouver, with 340.4 and Eleanor McLeod 18, of Toronto, with 332.8.

The Tuttle-Vannasse duo scored 66 points, the same as Marjane Lennie of Unionville, Ont., and Karl Benzinger, 19, of Toronto, who placed second.

MITCHES QUALIFY
Two Vancouver pairs were the other dance qualifiers — brother and sister Donna Lee and John Mitchell and Patricia Chestnut and Frank Royle.

Another brother-and-sister pair were second to the Fenton-McLachlan duo in the ten step, Svata and Mirek Zaroha of Toronto scored 24.5 points, two behind the leaders.

The Tuttle-Vannasse pair rounded out the ten step qualifiers along with Judith Saunders and Kenneth Ormsby of Toronto, who were eliminated in the junior dance.

Ann Martin and Eddie Collins of Woodstock, Ont., were second-place waltz qualifiers with 23.0 points against 26 for Miss Fenton and McLachlan.

The Mitchells, eliminated in the ten step, qualified in the waltz along with the Zarohas.

BOXER VERSUS WRESTLER

Joey Maxim, left, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, jabs away at wrestler Corsica Joe during a match in Knoxville, Tenn. Maxim, 36, is now performing around the country as a wrestler. Aussies Assume Strong Position

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters) — Opening batsman Colin McDonald scored 112 runs not out today to spark Australia to a total of 200 for one wicket and put his team in a strong position in the fourth cricket test match against England.

Australia needs only a draw in this match to regain the Ashes, the symbol of supremacy in the cricket competition between the two countries. Australia won the first two tests in the five-match series and the third was drawn.

English captain Peter May gambled and lost today at the beginning of play in the six-day match. He won the toss but put Australia in to bat in the hope of grabbing some quick wickets.

Instead, McDonald and Jim Burke pounded the weakened English bowling for 171 runs before Burke was caught by Cowdrey, Australia's total.

McDonald, a Melbourne school teacher, hit nine fours in his five-hour stay at the wicket. It was his first century against England.

Vees Face Vernon Canadians Tonight

Penticton V's will be out for revenge when they face George Agar's Vernon Canadians at 8 p.m. tonight in Memorial Arena.

Last time the Canucks were in town, a week ago, they trounced the locals 9-2. Needless to say, the loss didn't sit too well with the V's.

They have had better luck against the Canucks this season than any other club. A win tonight would give them an even split on games to date.

A win is a must for Penticton if they are to keep alive their hopes of overtaking third-place Kamloops Chiefs. Kamloops will be at Kelowna tonight in the other game scheduled.

With only ten games left, the V's trail Kamloops by eight points in the OSHL standings. They must get a win streak going to catch the northeners.

Youngsters are reminded of the 96 free tickets available at the arena for tonight's game, courtesy of Dave Ramsden of Interior Warm Air Heating.

Sixty children's and 36 students' tickets will be given away to youngsters on a first-come-first-served basis.

Traffic Jam in San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The traffic was fierce today with 35,000 professionals crowded within a margin of five strokes as play swung into the second round of the $20,000 San Diego golf tournament.

Heading the procession with a precarious lead, as the 141 pros again attacked the par 36-36-72 Mission Valley Country Club course, were Mike Souchak and Bob Duden.

Souchak, 31-year-old veteran of tournament play from Grossinger, N.Y., and Duden, 38, of Oswego, Ore., each went around in 33-32-65 Thursday to top such proven stars as U.S. open champion Tommy Bolt and Arnold Palmer, the 1958 Masters winner and victor last Sunday in the Thunderbird invitational at Palm Springs.

Bolt settled for a 36-36-72, and Palmer, who won this event in 1957, had 34-38-72.

One stroke behind the co-leaders were Bob Winger, who had 31-35, and young Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., with 35-31.

Among the threats crammed into the five-stroke margin were Jay Hebert and Bill Casper in the 67 group; Jack Burke, Jr., Doug Ford and Stan Leonard of Vancouver in the 68 bracket; and Julius Boros and a host of lesser lights in the next two groups.

Leonard's score consisted of two 34 rounds.

George Knudson of Toronto carded 35-37-72; Gerry Magee, Toronto, 35-40-75; and Moe Norman, Kitchener, Ont., 37-41-78.

Anthony Opens 1959 Campaign

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Anthony opens a 1959 campaign he hopes will earn him a lofty ranking in the heavyweight division when he faces Reuben Vargas of Richmond, Calif., in a 10-rounder tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The 23-year-old New Yorker already is No. 1 contender in the light heavy class ruled by Archie Moore. Instead of waiting for another crack at Moore, who stopped him in September, 1957, Anthony wants to make his bid among the heavies. He is a 3-to-1 favorite over Vargas.

Anthony has a seven-fight winning streak going for him against his 25-year-old opponent who is reputed to be a stiff puncher.

Among his 158 victims were Amos Durelle, Artie Miller, Orville Pitts, Cal Brad, Sonny Ray and Archie McBride (twice). The lanky New Yorker stopped Durelle, of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., who almost upset Moore in Montreal last month.

Anthony's record is 37-5-1 with 28 knockouts. He was stopped in all of his five defeats. Vargas is 17-6 with 13 knockouts.

IDEAS TO COMBAT WEATHER PROPOSED

FA Cup Schedule Suffering

By M. MCINTYRE HOOD

Spectral to The Herald
LONDON — Disruption of the United Kingdom soccer football schedules for the last two or three weeks, because of the weather, creating impossible playing conditions, has resulted in an outbreak of ideas and suggestions for coping with the unpredictable climate of this country.

Taking a prominent place in the suggestions is one that football should be entirely discontinued during the month of January, and the season extended to include the month of June.

That idea has many supporters and one Scottish football critic, writing in "The Scotsman" goes the whole hog, and suggests evening week-night matches in July.

CHANGE CUP DATES
Some of the English critics do not go quite as far as that, but are suggesting that in drafting the schedules for next season, no cup tie rounds be played in January.

Normally, there is a long gap between the semi-final and final games. This year, the semi-finals will be played on March 14 and the final at Wembley on May 3.

It is pointed out that this gap of over six weeks could be bridged by moving the third and fourth round games on into February and March and leaving January free of cup football. League schedules could be made to conform.

"The one big catch in that is that February, over here, is liable to produce just as bad wintry weather as January. So it is not likely that anything will be done along this line."

DEVICES PROPOSED
We are also reading of a flood of ideas for protecting pitches, not from frost and snow. The device is quite that in drafting the of cancelled games, on account of unplayable grounds, has really aroused interest in methods to prevent this occurring every winter.

World Free Trade Idea Enlivens House

By ALAN DONNELLY
OTTAWA (CP) — A Liberal member's idea for world-wide free trade and a government forecast of new development projects at home have enlivened the waning hours of the Commons throne speech debate.

Paul Hellyer (L — Toronto Trinity) Thursday presented a proposal for an international trade agreement to eliminate tariff barriers in 50 years.

Works Minister Green announced work will start soon on a new $5,500,000 ocean vessel terminal at the Lakehead and that a report is expected to be completed March 31 on feasibility of the much-discussed causeway to Prince Edward Island across the Northumberland Strait.

The Commons then wound up the ninth day of its throne speech debate by voting 174 to 48 against a Liberal non-confidence motion accusing the government of "contradictory and confused policies" and "lamentable indecision" in dealing with grave national problems.

The debate concludes today after 10 uninterrupted days of talk—a debate which one member said should be sliced hereafter to a maximum five days. David J. Walker (PC — Toronto Rosedale) said MPs can say all there is to be said in that period of time.

Canada Asks More Flexible Approach to German Problem

By ALAN HARVEY
OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is calling on its partners to study the merits of a more flexible approach to the central problem of the cold war—German unity and European security.

Feeling that the passage of time has outdated the classic Western position, the government asked Allied countries to engage in a re-examination to break the East-West deadlock.

The Canadian attitude is being folded in the NATO permanent council at Paris.

Officials disavow any Canadian "plan" for a new approach. They hope fresh thinking may produce new negotiation.

POSITION EASED

In recent weeks, there has been greater receptivity in Western capitals to alternative proposals on Germany.

State Secretary Dulles of the United States has given an indication that the U.S. may be willing to move away from the rigid position of insisting on German unity through free elections.

At the NATO meeting in Paris last December, External Affairs Minister Smith said Canada supported a firm policy on Berlin but did not want the door closed on possible negotiations.

Fritz Erler, deputy leader of the opposition Social Democratic Party in Western Germany, dropped a broad hint to a reporter during an Ottawa visit that he regards Canadian views on the German problem as pretty close to his own. He puts the emphasis on talking with the Russians.

Conditioning the Canadian attitude is a feeling that things have changed since the free-elections-first approach was decided on a decade ago. Since then Western Germany has emerged as a military factor and the East German satellite regime has shown permanence.

Officials here favor a piecemeal approach that would not seek to solve all problems at once. There have been indications that some merit is seen in the plan of Polish Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki for European disengagement, involving a nuclear-free zone.

Ottawa is willing to talk about the Rapacki plan, though not all of its features are accepted. One big question would be how disengagement—without a wall of forces—might be feasible without upsetting the strategic balance of power.

Anti-Guatemala Feeling Mounts In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hostility toward neighboring Guatemala mounted in Mexico today, fired by a report that Guatemala demonstrators had destroyed a border bridge and Guatemala planes had flown over a Mexican city.

Guatemala police charged in mid-July that 20 armed Mexicans had crossed the border Thursday and undered the village of Santa Ana.

Mexico's government Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI) called on 500,000 persons to assemble in Mexico City Sunday before the Presidential Palace to demonstrate support for President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

FISHING BOATS STRAFED

Lopez Mateos broke diplomatic relations with Guatemala last week after President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes rejected a Mexican protest against the strafing of Mexican fishing boats. Three fishermen were killed, Guatemalans claimed they were trespassing.

Several thousand residents held a meeting to back Lopez Mateos Thursday night in Acapulco, a major fishing port as well as resort on the west coast.

Reports from Tapachula, largest Mexican city on the 500-mile border and military headquarters for the district, said a spontaneous demonstration on the Guatemala side of the Suchiate River got out of control Thursday. It resulted in destruction of the bridge linking Ayutla, Guatemala, with Ciudad Hidalgo, Mexico, the reports said.

Tapachula also reported that a squadron of Guatemalan air force planes flew overhead several times.

More Batista Officers Face Trials in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — Further trials of Batista officers are under way in Santiago de Cuba, capital of Cuba's easternmost Oriente province, Vincente Ruiz, an army lieutenant, was sentenced to death there Thursday.

War crimes trials resume in Havana today after a three-day break. The names of those to face the military courts in Havana have not been disclosed.

Two tribunals were planned in the capital, one at LaCibana military fortress where most of those under arrest are confined, and the other at the Camp Columbia army headquarters.

The supreme revolutionary tribunal also meets into today to rule on the appeal of a former army captain, Pedro Morcón, from the death sentence given him at Camp Columbia earlier this week.

COLUMBIA DEVELOPMENT

Canada Gets Right To River Power

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States has apparently conceded to Canada right which this country gave the U.S. decades ago.

Informants said here Thursday that the U.S. appears to have recognized tacitly, if not publicly, that Canada is entitled to downstream benefits on the Columbia River.

The reported move was greeted enthusiastically in British Columbia.

"Downstream benefits," refers to a share of power generated at dams on the American section of the Columbia from water fed down as needed from storage dams on the Canadian part of the river. The Columbia rises in British Columbia and flows through that province and the U.S. Pacific northwest before it empties into the Pacific at Astoria, Ore.

Canada granted the U.S. downstream benefits on the upper St. John River many years ago. The St. John rises in Maine and flows through New Brunswick into the Bay of Fundy.

LONG BATTLE

This country for years—at least 10—has been battling for American recognition of downstream benefits on the Columbia.

The two governments announced Thursday the six-member International Joint Commission has been asked to recommend an early date apportionment of downstream benefits.

This can only mean, informants said, that the U.S. has recognized Canadian entitlement.

At Victoria, Lands Minister Ray Wiliston hailed the reports and said "there can be no doubt this agreement was obtained" because B.C. proposed to proceed with development of power on the Peace River rather than wait for a decision on the Columbia.

He said this gave Canada a stronger hand, but warned that a great deal of bargaining lies ahead.

Airplane Blamed Partly for Caribou Herd Dwindling

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's once teeming herds of barren-ground caribou continue to dwindle, says a government report, and a veteran Arctic hand blames the airplane.

"Consideration may have to be given in the not-too-distant future to the possible complete ban on the human utilization of caribou," said the report Thursday in the Northwest Territories council.

The barren-ground caribou, vital northern source of food and clothing, have fallen from an estimated 700,000 in 1949 to 200,000 last year although 1958 produced a good calf crop. The survival rate was judged to be 20 per cent compared with 45 per cent in 1955.

AIRCRAFT FRIGHTEN HERD

E. J. (Scotty) Gall, Yellowknife trader, said that prospecting activity in the north and the heavy use of aircraft has driven the caribou from their normal migration paths and inflicted heavy losses during the fawning season.

"The caribou has the sharpest hearing of any animal in the North — he can hear a hunter three or four miles away — and airplane noise distracts him," said Mr. Gall.

The caribou vied for council attention with buffalo. Approval in principle was given legislation allowing buffalo hunting to start this year, it is hoped, once final regulations are drawn up.

WESTERN HERDS THRIVE

The caribou problem has a bright side in the thriving herds west of the Mackenzie River, but to the east the caribou has been a vanishing animal to the point that at least 25 Eskimo deaths north of Manitoba last year are credited to the decline.

Mr. Gall, who says he has shot his share of caribou, asked whether any regulations exist about planes "buzzing" herds. The practice was particularly harmful in the spring when the calves are born, he said.

Manitoba's Entry 'Harsh, Overdone' Says Adjudicator

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Theatre Club's entry in the Dominion drama festival, "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams, went under the critic's hammer Thursday night for being what the adjudicator described as "forced, harsh and overdone."

The play is the first in Manitoba's two-part regional drama festival.

Adjudicator Richard Ainley said the actors appeared to miss the point of the play.

He said the voices were clear and sharp "but too well done, too hard and overdone." The pace was too fast for the play.

The mother, a woman whose husband left her and who now dreams of the old days in the southern states, was too brisk, Mr. Ainley said. The part was played by Ramona McBean.

"She wasn't sloppy enough. She was bitter but had not despair."

GIVE TRADE IDEA

He said the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade should be replaced by a world pact in which agreeing countries would have two tariff schedules — a lower one for "most favored nations" and a general one for all other countries. The lower scale would apply annually to all signatory countries who had imported on the average in the three preceding years at least 90 per cent of the amount of their exports.

That would provide "a real and tangible incentive" for countries to keep trade relatively balanced. Once the countries agreed to that they could reduce most-favored-nation tariffs by one-fifth every year and general tariffs by one-hundredth. After 50 years, tariffs would thus be ended among trading nations.

Mr. Green had more news for the Lakehead, where there have been worries about the decision by Canada Car Company to move its Fort William works to Montreal. He said the company has been given the go-ahead for further development on the Bobcat vehicle for the Canadian army—a tracked vehicle capable of being used as a personnel carrier or for carrying artillery or anti-aircraft guns.

The army is understood to have asked the government for an initial order of 500 Bobcats.

Mr. Green also gave the Commons formal notice of a government bill to add another $100,000,000 to the present $250,000,000 authorization for federal spending on the trans-Canada highway.

BROKE DREAM QUALITY

Gordon Penson, as the son who yearned to get away from his St. Louis slum home, and eventually does, "broke the dream qualities and continuity by his harshness."

The lame daughter, Laura, played by Shirley Knight, earned praise for a performance described as "admirable, with a genuine, pathetic quality." It is Laura who withdraws from the bickering and quarrelling of her mother and brother to play with her glass animals, the Glass Menagerie.

The "gentleman caller" sought by the mother as a possible husband for her crippled daughter and played by Tom Ashmore was "too perfect for the part."

TOO MUCH ENERGY

He works in a warehouse with the brother "but with his drive and energy," said the British adjudicator, "he should have been pushed upstairs to the general manager's chair."

Mr. Ainley, actor and movie performer for 18 years, will judge the second part of the Manitoba festival tonight and Saturday at Fort William. Northwestern Ontario entries are included in Manitoba's regional presentation.

NEW CURBSIDE MAILING BOX

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster General William Hamilton announces that a new postal facility is now available for the convenience of the public—curbside mailing.

Recognizing that the world of today lives largely in automobiles, the Post Office department has been experimenting with various types of curbside mail receptacles and a new "Snorkel" type curb box has been devised.

The new installation is a specially-designed, large-size red mailbox having a funnel receptacle facing the road for motorists, as well as the conventional flap-type opening facing the sidewalk for pedestrians' use.

Motorists need only draw up to the side of the road, reach from the auto and deposit their mail in the "Snorkel" or funnel receptacle, and then drive on. The new device is considered more advantageous when installed on a one-way street, located on the drivers' side.

Advantages of this facility are apparent. First, it permits quick mailing without the driver having to leave his car. It saves him the trouble of finding a parking spot and then leaving his car to mail in the post lobby or at an ordinary mail receptacle. It helps speed up posting by eliminating the crowding of postal lobbies and will serve to relieve traffic congestion.

Inauguration of curbside mailing will be on the basis of where public demand exists and such other considerations as city traffic conditions, lack of parking facilities, and of course, the co-operation of civic authorities in facilitating the placing of curbside mailing boxes.

100 Arrested in African Suburb; Curfew Imposed

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (Reuters) — Police and troops began a large-scale roundup of suspects today in the African suburb of Dendale where there have been minor outbreaks of violence this week.

A police spokesman said about 100 arrests were made and that a curfew has been imposed on the suburb.

Those arrested included Africans found with objects looted during riots early this month in which at least 47 Africans were killed.

CLC Head May Intervene in Strike

BY JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the 1,100,000-member Canadian Labor Congress may intervene today in the strike of CBC television producers in Montreal.

Mr. Jodoin conferred for two hours Thursday night with a six-man union delegation from Montreal which made a surprise visit to Ottawa to see him.

After the meeting Mr. Jodoin said only that, "I may have something to say tomorrow."

Mr. Jodoin and Fernand Quirion, president of the producers' association — L'Association des Realisateurs (CCL) — said the whole strike situation was discussed at the meeting.

The conference followed three other developments Thursday.

The CBC said the walkout of the 74 producers is no nearer a solution than when it started Dec. 29.

In Montreal, Jean Duceppe, president of the Union des Artistes, told a mass meeting of strikers and sympathizers that CBC officials "refused to discuss any settlement" at a meeting Wednesday with himself and Mr. Quirion in Ottawa.

R. C. Fraser, CBC director of public relations, replied in Ottawa that the CBC did not refuse to discuss a settlement because the meeting was not arranged for that purpose. The meeting was held to exchange views and any ideas which might lead to a solution of the strike.

Mr. Duceppe and Mr. Quirion were members of the delegation which conferred with Mr. Jodoin.

Both Mr. Quirion and Mr. Duceppe said they had no knowledge of any further meetings with CBC officials.

Union officials said their plan, barring any new developments, was to return to Montreal today.

The strike of 74 producers, which has disrupted CBC television production in Montreal, was called to enforce demands of the producers for recognition of their association as collective bargaining agent. Recognition is refused by the CBC which claims the producers are part of management.

DEADLY SULPHUR FUMES

The peak of the 1952 smog was reached after four days. In London alone 4,000 persons died, mostly because of sulphur fumes from factory chimneys.

Ninety per cent of the victims then had heart or chest ailments. Most healthy persons suffered only minor throat irritations.

Doctors warned today that old persons and patients should remain indoors.

"If you do go out, wear a mask or cover your mouth with a scarf," one advised.

Hospitals asked extra staff members to grope their way to work to deal with victims.

Londoners hoped that the break meant there would be no repetition of the "yellow death" smog that killed 12,000 people in Britain in 1952.

Enough fog was left, however, to slow all road and rail traffic. The capital's airport, 20 miles from the city centre, was completely closed in.

Dense smog settled on Manchester but a quick break in the western approaches gave ships the chance to run for Welsh ports.

London airport was closed down completely for 36 hours, with no planes going in or out. Traffic was diverted to Gatwick Airport, south of London, until fog closed it down Thursday, stranding 26 airplanes.

Hundreds of air passengers spent an unexpected night in London and English channel resort hotels. As the fog started to lift today the airlines worked to get scheduled planes back into the air.

Londoners hoped that the break meant there would be no repetition of the "yellow death" smog that killed 12,000 people in Britain in 1952.

Enough fog was left, however, to slow all road and rail traffic. The capital's airport, 20 miles from the city centre, was completely closed in.

Dense smog settled on Manchester but a quick break in the western approaches gave ships the chance to run for Welsh ports.

London airport was closed down completely for 36 hours, with no planes going in or out. Traffic was diverted to Gatwick Airport, south of London, until fog closed it down Thursday, stranding 26 airplanes.

Hundreds of air passengers spent an unexpected night in London and English channel resort hotels. As the fog started to lift today the airlines worked to get scheduled planes back into the air.

Government scientists warned that the concentration of smoke and poisonous fumes in the fog already was worse than on the first day of the killer fog seven December days ago.

Weather experts predicted no early break in the fog belt stretching from the Yorkshire moors to the south coast.

Householders were asked to cut down on coal fires to reduce the smoke.

DEADLY SULPHUR FUMES

The peak of the 1952 smog was reached after four days. In London alone 4,000 persons died, mostly because of sulphur fumes from factory chimneys.

Ninety per cent of the victims then had heart or chest ailments. Most healthy persons suffered only minor throat irritations.

Doctors warned today that old persons and patients should remain indoors.

"If you do go out, wear a mask or cover your mouth with a scarf," one advised.

Hospitals asked extra staff members to grope their way to work to deal with victims.

Brando's Film to Cost $4 Million

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marlon Brando's already $2,500,000 over budget on his new picture, but he isn't worried.

"The studio Paramount isn't either," he claims. "Otherwise, they'd be leaning against me."

It seems incredible that a film could cost so much more than anticipated, but that's what the man said. He reported that "One-Eyed Jacks," budgeted at $1,500,000, will end up costing $4,000,000. Reason for the expense is that much of the early footage has been reshot, new scenes have been added and the schedule extended a full month.

It's Marlon's debut as a director and he added that he will never work again under such conditions.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"I don't keep track of the money I spend; I charge it."

"In the first place," he said, "we had to start without a finished script. I didn't want to, but this commitment had been hanging for three years, and I wanted to get rid of it."

"One of the major problems is dealing with inexperienced actors. Karl Malden and Katy Uradov are the only other trained actors in the cast. With Karl, I can say, 'push orange button No. 8,' and he will produce the emotion I want. But the others aren't push-button actors. I have to work hard to get what I want out of them."

Best western in a long time is The Hanging Tree. Gary Cooper plays a real character in this one, not just the stalwart man of the West. Maria Schell gives the film real dimension with a fine acting job. Newcomer Ben Piazza should be the next sensation of the teen-agers.

Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner continue their Anna and the King of Siam relationship in The Journey, but not with as propitious results. The story of the Hungarian revolt was beautifully photographed, but the human values are too often muddled.

In shooting pictures from a boat, train, or car, don't rest the camera against the frame where it would take up the vibration. Let your arms absorb any vibration.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By B. Jay Becker

(Top Record Holder in Masters' Individual Championship Play)

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

1♥ 2♠ ?

What would you now bid with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠A Q J 6 ♥J 4 ♦K J 8 6 3 ♣5
2. ♠A K Q J 7 4 3 ♥K 7 6 4 ♣5
3. ♠A 4 ♥K 8 7 3 2 ♦7 5 ♣A Q 8 5 2
4. ♠A Q 8 8 3 ♥7 6 5 ♦K Q 7 2 ♣A Q

1. Two diamonds. Game is quite probable, but where the best contract lies is uncertain. In such cases it is important to give partner as much exact information as possible.

To come in over two clubs with two spades would cramp the bidding unnecessarily and make it extremely difficult for partner to realize that the spades are only four long. By bidding diamonds first and spades later, the four-card spade suit becomes identified as well as the greater diamond length. The search of the longest trump suit takes precedence over the search for the strongest trump suit.

2. Four spades. The best strategy is to identify immediately the type of hand held. The direct leap to game announces there is no question about the suit in which the contract should be played and that there is relatively little defensive strength.

The jump bid makes it difficult for sacrifice purposes, if they are bid.

3. Four hearts. It is of course quite likely the opponents would be badly beaten at two clubs, but the double is ruled out because it is too impossible that two clubs doubled would become the final contract. With 12 spades and 11 diamonds missing, it is clear the opponents have a better trump suit than clubs.

The four heart bid is preferred to a jump to heart because there is a good chance the opponents can profitably sacrifice in spades or diamonds, and the four heart bid is more apt to block out the save.

4. Three notrump. This is the best way to identify both the distribution and the high card strength held. The three notrump call identifies an opening bid facing an opening game at notrump. If North's hand is unbalanced and not suitable for notrump play he is at liberty to go on in his original suit or in a new suit.

The three notrump bid over an overall in the two level generally contains 13 to 15 high card points, notrump distribution, and a double stopper in the adverse suit. It is a highly descriptive bid.

Canadian Mission Returns Saturday

BY D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (CP)—Members of the Canadian economic mission, bronzed by the tropical sun and overwhelmed by the hospitality, return home Saturday after a 17-day trip through a tropical wonderland.

The high-ranking Canadian businessmen made the trip to study the possibilities of increasing trade with the West Indies and British Guiana.

A meeting was held Thursday to assess what was accomplished by the mission, the largest Canadian trade group ever to go abroad under the sponsorship of private enterprise.

Major General A. E. Walford, one of Canada's top generals in the Second World War and now a Montreal businessman, told of being presented with a commemorative pin by the British Empire Service League in Georgetown.

LIKED NATIVE DANCING

W. J. Borrie of Vancouver rated dancing to native steel bands the pick of leisure-time activities. And activities were as varied as time and conditions would permit.

The tour began in Kingston, Jamaica, where the mission spent three days engaged in business sessions, cocktail parties, and official dinners. Three more days were spent relaxing in holiday resorts on the Jamaican north coast.

At this point many Canadians were hit by a stomach complaint brought on by the sharp change in climate, water and food. Most had recovered by the time the four-day visit to Port of Spain, Trinidad, had been completed.

The mission spent four days in British Guiana before coming to this tourist resort area for the final three days.

As the tour neared its end, Charles Gervais of Montreal, assistant secretary of the mission, said it was difficult to know whether the heat, humidity, or the hospitality proved the most gruelling.

Inflation Dangers Emphasized by Insurance Head

TORONTO (CP)—Inflation is a greater danger than communism, depression or unemployment, E. C. Gill, president of Canada Life Assurance Company, said Thursday at the company's annual meeting.

He urged government to take courageous action and the public to support such action.

He attributed Britain's current "flourishing position" to the "wisdom and courage" shown by her government in 1957.

LESSON OF 1929

And he had a word of caution for those who seek "hedgies against inflation" in the stock market.

"Thirty years ago," he commented, "it was widely believed that the stock market was certain to go upward and upward forever. Far too many have forgotten the lessons of 1929."

Mr. Gill said that while more Canadians were unemployed in 1958 than in 1957, more were also at work.

"One might have expected," he added, "that those who had work would have produced a bit more, particularly when their efforts were supplemented by new and efficient productive facilities. There is no evidence of this."

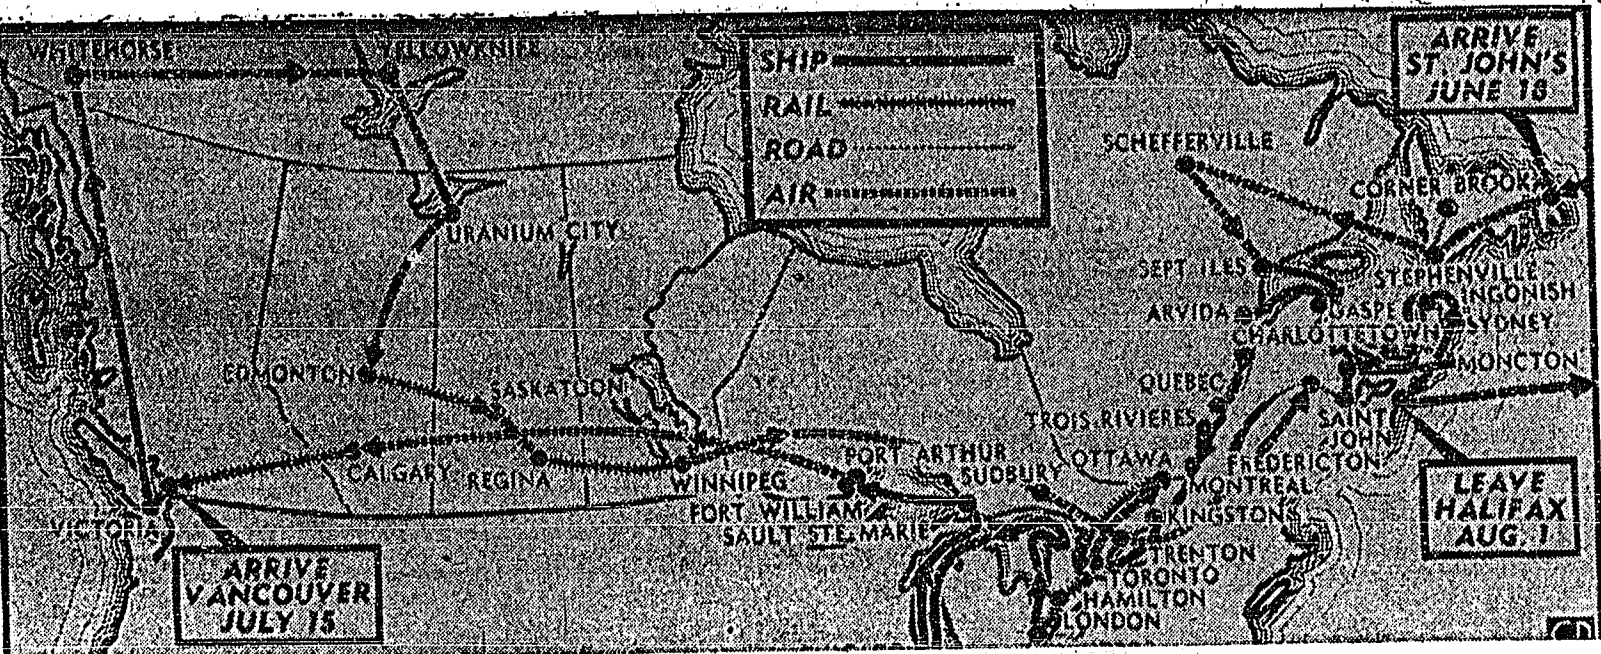

The gross national production was up two per cent in 1958 over 1957, but the increase was in price inflation, and volume was about the same.

$100 Million Proposed for Trans-Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Thursday gave notice of its intention to seek parliamentary approval for an additional $100,000,000 for federal spending on the Trans-Canada Highway.

It proposes that the aggregate of all federal expenditures under the Trans-Canada Highway Act be increased to a maximum of $350,000,000 from the present $250,000,000.

Under the act—signed by all provinces except Quebec—the federal and provincial governments split construction costs on a 50-50 basis with Ottawa also paying 90 per cent of the cost on up to 10 per cent of the highway's mileage in any participating province.

QUEEN'S ROUTE DURING SIX-WEEK VISIT

This map outlines the Queen's route by air, ship, road and rail across Canada during her six-week visit this summer. Between the time she arrives at Torbay airport near St. John's, June 18, and her departure from Shearwater airport near Halifax Aug. 1, she will have visited all 10 provinces and the Yukon and Northwest Territories. The Queen and Prince Philip will cruise the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes in the royal yacht Britannia. They will fly into the northland with visits to Schefferville in north-eastern Quebec, Whitehorse in the Yukon, Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories and Uranium City in northern Saskatchewan. Main purpose of the visit is the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway which will take place June 26-27 but arrangements and actual site for the opening have not yet been announced. The Queen will visit one United States city when the Britannia calls July 6 at Chicago which will be holding its international fair and exposition at that time. The itinerary also sets aside July 12 and 13 for a rest period in an unspecified area of British Columbia. (CP Newsmap)

Ike's Price Support Cut Idea May Help Canada

By HAROLD MORISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—President Eisenhower's latest message, if heeded by congress, may go a long way to resolving Canada's food surplus problem. But there is doubt here the president will make much headway.

Mr. Eisenhower, in a special message to Congress, Thursday renewed a call for lower farm price supports, to reduce federal costs and discourage excessive production particularly of those products which have caused marketing headaches.

Such a view is strongly endorsed in some Canadian quarters. Officials have long held the view that American price supports are too high; that they tend to encourage surplus production and thereby increase the threat to Canadian exports by tending to glut world markets.

Reduce American price supports, they suggest, and American farmers may produce less, opening the way for increased demand for Canadian production.

WHEAT MAJOR WORRY
While criticism of American policies runs to a number of products, the major clash in view has been on wheat. Maintenance of exports is vital to Canada's prairies.

But steadily over the years Canadian farmers have watched American production pile up with the American government tending to encourage output with various incentives, including export subsidies and high supports.

Repeated Canadian complaints brought little variation in American policy. U.S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson is known to be opposed to high supports and has spoken out against them. But American farmers are strongly organized and have put up a stiff battle against cuts.

Thus in a Congress, controlled by Democrats and with a strong farm lobby, there is little likelihood of any major drop in American farm protection.

Peace River Coldest Spot

EDMONTON (CP)—The lowest temperatures of the winter were recorded in Alberta and Saskatchewan early today.

The coldest spot in Canada was Peace River, 250 miles northwest of Edmonton, where the weather office recorded an overnight low of 44 degrees below zero. It was 43 below at Lac la Biche, 100 miles northeast of Edmonton.

Smice—a mixture of ice crystals and smoke closely related to smog—cut visibility to less than a city block in parts of Edmonton.

ANIMAL BLOOD FOR HUMANS?

VICTORIA (CP)—It does not seem "too improbable" that animal blood soon may be used in transfusions for humans, Dr. Gordon Fryer, chief of Canada's civil defence medical services, said here Thursday.

"It may break within six months or two years," he said in an interview.

Blood groups of animals follow the same general classes as human blood groups. Dr. Fryer said, and experiments have gone as far as successfully transfusing blood between different types of animals.

STEADY RISE

Agriculture Minister Harkness estimated in a Toronto speech Thursday that the American wheat carryover next July 1 likely will rise to 1,300,000,000 bushels, compared with 880,000,000 a year ago. Canada's carryover may drop to about 523,000,000 from 614,800,000, mainly because of below-average production.

The bulk of Canadian wheat is sold for cash and farmers get paid on the basis of going prices, though the government pays part of storage costs and last year paid a special $1-an-acre special subsidy up to a maximum $200 a farmer.

American support is based on parity, maintaining producer income for a farm product at the buying-power level of some favorable period, usually 1910-14. Now Mr. Eisenhower wants to relate mandatory supports to a percentage of average market prices during a period of recent years.

The extent Canada might benefit from his proposal would depend on how low the percentage is. Undoubtedly if it is low enough, farmers might be encouraged to switch production. But it is doubted here that any major drop is likely.
